10 Diocese based on childhood sexual assault by its priests or other employees, volunteers or 11 agents. Plaintiffs will amend this complaint to add those additional individuals as 12 Plaintiffs as their individual lawsuits based on the clergy sexual abuse are filed.

13
14 D. *The Diocese’s Prior Efforts to Shield its Assets and Defraud Survivors of Clergy Sexual 15 Abuse.

16 12. Effective January 1, 2003, the Legislature amended Code of Civil Procedure § 340.1 to 17 allow for civil actions based on childhood sexual abuse – even abuse dating back many 18 years - to be filed at any time during the 2003 calendar year. During that one-year period 19 at least 146 civil lawsuits were filed against Diocese. These lawsuits alleged sexual 20 abuse by Catholic priests and other employees of the Diocese. The Diocese’s efforts to 21 defraud survivors of child sexual abuse by its clergy date back at least to that earlier 22 litigation.

23
24 13. In February of 2007, when the first of those 146 clergy abuse survivors were on the 25 doorstep of the first civil trial against the Diocese, the Diocese filed a Chapter 11
26 Bankruptcy as a tactic to avoid trial. The filing of the bankruptcy proceeding 27 automatically stayed the imminent jury trial and halted all pending litigation in every 28 other civil case.

1 14. While the filing of the bankruptcy caused all state court proceedings to come to a halt, it
2 also required the Diocese to make a full and complete disclosure - under the penalty of 3 perjury - of all of its assets including all real estate, cash and cash equivalents.

4 15. In an apparent effort to deceive the bankruptcy court and defraud the child abuse survivor
5 creditors, the Diocese's required bankruptcy schedules omitted as assets of the Diocese:
6 1) nearly $100,000,000.00 in cash held in what it referred to as "the Diocesan Bank"; 2)
7 hundreds of parcels of real property (although the deeds were titled in The Roman
8 Catholic Bishop of San Diego, a corporation sole, or some variation of that name); and 3)
9 a $50,000,000 gift, which the Diocese conveniently converted to a loan just before filing
10 for bankruptcy.
11

12 16. The Diocesan Bank was, in fact, several individual accounts held at Union Bank under 13 the taxpayer identification of the Diocese. When the Diocese was questioned about its 14 failure to disclose these funds in its bankruptcy schedules, it claimed that it was merely 15 holding the funds in trust for the Parishes. On the other hand, when the Diocese had 16 previously applied for construction financing to build Cathedral Catholic High School,
17 the Diocese had represented to the lender, under oath, that the money in these individual
18 accounts at Union Bank totaling the nearly $100,000,000.00 were assets of the Diocese.
19

20 17. During the bankruptcy proceedings, Union Bank advised Judge Louise DeCarl Adler that 21 the Diocese was attempting to change the tax identification numbers of these accounts to 22 the tax identification numbers of various parishes. Judge Adler summoned Diocesan 23 officials to appear and threatened to hold them in contempt for attempting to transfer 24 assets when, as a matter of law, all assets were frozen by the bankruptcy.
25

26 18. Judge Adler appointed a neutral auditor to investigate several suspicious transfers and 27 other deceptive dealings by the Diocese which had occurred either during the bankruptcy
28 or in contemplation of the bankruptcy. The auditor wrote a scathing report detailing

1 attempts by some parish priests to hide money, the Diocese's efforts to seriously
2 undervalue its properties, as well as its failure to account for certain interest income that
3 belonged to the Diocese.

5 19. Prior to filing for bankruptcy, the Diocese had asked for and received a commitment for a
6 $50,000,000 gift from the ALSAM foundation to help build Mater Dei Catholic High
7 School. Years later, in contemplation of the bankruptcy, the Diocese converted the gift to 8 a loan encumbered by the new school. Thus, the Diocese attempted to convert a 9 $50,000,000 asset into a debt, even though the terms of the loan permitted a forgiveness
10 of the debt later.

11
12 20. Among the Diocese's real property holdings at the time of the bankruptcy were nearly 13 300 parcels of real property (which are the parcels at issue in this action) titled in the 14 name of the Diocese. Despite holding title to these properties, the Diocese claimed it did 15 not really own them, but instead held them in trust for its parishioners.

16
17 21. During 2003, when a flood of lawsuits were being filed by childhood sexual abuse
18 survivors against the Diocese, its general counsel, Michael Webb, learned that attorney
19 Irwin Zalkin would be filing lawsuits on behalf of dozens of clients against not only the 20 Diocese, but also the individual parishes. Webb contacted Zalkin via email and advised 21 that there was no need to name the parishes separately in any lawsuit because the 22 "parishes are ours" referring to the Diocese.

23
24 22. As with the Webb email, the Diocese had successfully argued in litigation that it owned
25 and controlled certain Parish property. In 1974, a group of Spanish-speaking parishioners
26 used their own funds to purchase a parcel of land in Pauma Valley along Highway 76
27 with the intention of building a parish hall - Centro Guadalupano de Pauma Valley. The 28 deed to the property was titled in the name of the Roman Catholic Bishop of San Diego and Centro Gaudalupano de Pauma Valley.

1 23. In 2003, the Diocese decided to transfer the property to Father Joe Carroll, president of 2 S.V.D.P. Management, Inc., to develop affordable housing. In 2004, a group of 3 parishioners sued the Diocese claiming that the property was theirs and was simply being
4 held in the name of the Diocese for their benefit. The parishioners claimed the Diocese
5 had no right to transfer their property. The Diocese sought and was granted summary
6 judgment. The court held that the parishioners, even though their parish was on the deed
7 and they had located and purchased the real property, had no standing to sue. The 8 Diocese was free to transfer title to the property.

10 24. Ultimately, on the eve of Judge Adler remanding numerous cases to the state court to 11 proceed to trial, the Diocese settled 144 pending actions (unintentionally omitting two 12 which settled later) for more than $198,000,000: an average of approximately $1,375,000
13 per case.
14

15 E. The Diocese's Efforts to Settle the Claims of Clergy Abuse Survivors For Pennies on the 16 Dollar.

17 25. By January of 2019, it was a near certainty that the California Legislature would 18 pass legislation to amend the statute of limitations applicable to claims based on 19 childhood sexual assault. On January 16, 2019, Assemblywoman Lorena Gonzalez 20 Fletcher introduced Assembly Bill 218 ("AB 218.") AB 218 would amend Code of Civil 21 Procedure § 340.1 to create a three-year filing period for survivors of childhood sexual 22 assault to commence civil actions. In practical effect, AB 218 ensured that Plaintiffs'
23 Underlying Actions could proceed.
24

25 26. On April 1, 2019, AB 218 passed the Assembly by a vote of 64-3. AB 218
26 moved on to the Senate where it was passed by the Senate Judiciary Committee on July 27 2, 2019 by a vote of 7-1. On August 30, 2019, AB 218 passed from the Senate
28 Appropriations Committee suspense file with a minor amendment. The Senate passed

1 the amended version of AB 218 on September 14, 2019 by a vote of 33-0. That same day
2 the Assembly voted 69-0 to concur in the amendments and send AB 218 on to the 3 Governor for signature. On October 13, 2019, the Governor signed AB 218.

4 27. To provide some scale to the potential liability facing the Diocese by virtue of AB
5 218, consider Father Edward Anthony Rodrigue. On information and belief, Father
6 Rodrigue was ordained in April of 1962 and assigned to Mary Star of the Sea Catholic
7 Church in La Jolla. Father Rodrigue continued to serve in various parish assignments
8 with the Diocese until the Diocese of San Bernardino was formed in approximately 1978
9 and Father Rodrigue was transferred to the Diocese of San Bernardino.

10 28. Plaintiffs are informed and believe, and on that basis allege that Father Rodrigue
11 was twice arrested for child molestation. During one of those prosecutions, Father
12 Rodrigue admitted to molesting boys throughout the entirety of his time as a priest; likely 13 more than 100 boys over the years.

14 29. Upon information and belief, approximately 31 of those boys had pursued
15 lawsuits prior to January 1, 2020, meaning the Diocese potentially faced an additional 70
16 or more claims based on childhood sexual assault by Father Rodrigue alone.

17 30. In March of 2007, the Diocese published a list of clergy against whom it had 18 received allegations of child molestation that it deemed “credible.” That list was later
19 amended and now includes at least 51 credibly accused clerics. The volume of potential 20 AB 218 claimants was high.

21 31. Thus, with AB 218 moving through the Legislature, and substantial liability
22 looming, the Diocese began taking steps to secure its financial position against the 23 multitude of claims that it knew would be coming when AB 218 took effect. First, by 24 August 13, 2018, the Diocese had announced that it was participating in what it called an 25 “Independent Compensation Fund” for survivors of clergy sexual abuse. Through this 26
27
28

1 “Independent Compensation Fund” which took effect in September of 2019 a survivor of 2 childhood sexual abuse perpetrated by a priest of the Diocese could submit a claim form
3 to be evaluated by an “independent” claim evaluator. If the claimant qualified for the 4 program, a final settlement offer would be made. Individuals abused by non-priest
5 employees of the Diocese, or by priests associated with religious orders, were not eligible
6 for the program.

8 32. Plaintiffs are informed and believe and on that basis allege that the “Independent 9 Compensation Fund” was designed to draw out individuals who would otherwise be 10 eligible to bring a lawsuit pursuant to AB 218 and settle their claims for pennies on the 11 dollar. Indeed, the fund administrator announced that as of January 17, 2020, 69
12 individuals had registered claims against the Diocese through the fund program, and 27
13 of those had submitted completed claim forms. The administrator expected additional 14 applications and claims to be submitted in the ensuing 6 weeks that the claim filing 15 period remained open. As of January 17, 2020, 18 such claims had been processed, and 16 the program had authorized offers totaling $1,334,000: an average of $74,111 per 17 complainant. On average, the offers by the “Independent Compensation Fund” were 18 approximately 5% of the average settlement paid at the time of the Diocese’s bankruptcy
19 filing thirteen years earlier.
20

22 33. At the same time that the “Independent Compensation Fund” was becoming operational 23 and the Senate was passing AB 218 on to the Governor in mid-September of 2019, the 24 Diocese was engaged in a massive effort to transfer title to hundreds of millions of 25 dollars of real property for no consideration. Plaintiffs are informed and believe and on 26 that basis allege that this fraudulent scheme, which is described below and is the subject
27 of this lawsuit, was intended to defraud Plaintiffs and others with claims based on clergy
28 sexual abuse.

1 F. The Current Fraudulent Scheme

2 34. Plaintiffs believe and allege that all of the transfers described below were done as part of 3 a scheme created, masterminded, and designed by Diocese and the Parishes for the 4 Diocese to transfer properties to the Parishes so the assets of the Diocese are not
5 reachable by the Diocese's creditors, particularly not reachable by Plaintiffs to satisfy
6 Plaintiffs' Claims against the Diocese. The current fraudulent scheme involves the 7 transfer of at least 291 parcels of real property between September of 2019 and February
8 of 2020. Plaintiffs are informed and believe and on that basis allege that the total 9 assessed value of the transferred property is approximately $453,385,107.
